CM/ECF Filing Error

Issue: CM/ECF can occasionally give an error when filing due to using the same transaction ID for two different transactions. When this happens, it may appear that the filing has been accepted based on the warning message. This is a national issue affecting several bankruptcy courts. There is no immediate resolution or work-around.

Below is an image from ECF showing how the failed transaction appears. The screen appears on the first submission of the transaction, saying the transaction was already submitted.

When this occurs, the case numbers are not consistent. Note that the case number at the top of the page (21-40023) does NOT match the case number listed in the table (23-41790). In addition the title of the event (Motion for Examination of an Entity) doesn't match the text in the table (Trustee Example assigned to case. No 341 meeting per settings).

Result: The transaction may have NOT docketed despite the message saying it's already posted.

Action: Filers should review the docket to confirm whether the intended transaction was docketed to the case. If the user's intended transaction appears on the docket, no further action is necessary. If the transaction does NOT appear on the docket, the user must resubmit the transaction.
